

ST. BERNARD'S

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY AND MINISTRY

Academic Research and Writing Support Services

St. Bernard's School of Theology and Ministry offers students tutorial meetings and consultancy services with an Academic Research and Writing Consultant. Our consultant offers students assistance and support in writing method, style, grammar, and citation for students looking to improve and fine-tune their writing and research skills and strategies.

Academic research and writing is a process that requires active participation and the desire for continual improvement. Academic Research and Writing Consultants are trained professionals ready and willing to assist students through this process. They can assist students at any skill level and at any stage of the writing process – for example, they provide assistance with refining a thesis statement, reviewing the rough draft of a paper, researching a particular topic, offering tutorials in style formatting, etc. Academic Research and Writing Consultants will never complete assignments on behalf of the student.

Our Academic Research and Writing Consultant is available for appointments of up to 60 minutes, which can be scheduled using the link below. Each student is limited to one appointment per week. Once an appointment is scheduled, our Consultant will reach out via email to you to confirm. At least 24 hours before your appointment, you must email a draft of your paper or any other materials to your Consultant for review.

Anthony Coleman, Ph.D.

Anthony.Coleman@stbernards.edu

Dr. Coleman brings more than a decade of experience working in higher education as a teacher, administrator, and scholar. Having earned a B.A. in Theology at St. Anselm College, and an M.A. in Theology and Ph.D. in Systematic Theology (with a minor in Historical Theology) at Boston College, he has taught theology at St. Joseph's College of Maine, Anna Maria College (Worcester, MA), St. Gregory's University (Shawnee, OK), and has previously served as an Associate Program Director for St. Joseph's College of Maine, Director of the Albany Campus for St. Bernard's School of Theology & Ministry, and - most recently - as Director of the Theological Institute of Saint John's Seminary (Boston). He is the author of Lactantius the Theologian (2017) and editor of Leisure and Labor: The Liberal Arts in Catholic Higher Education (2020).

A Zoom writing consultant with Dr. Coleman can be made by clicking here:

<https://outlook.office.com/book/BookOfficeHourswithAnthonyPColemanPhD@dor.org/?ismsalsauthenabled>